

Disposable Financial Tools with payment process and a web card that doesn't reveal the account number in Internet transaction.

Abstract of the Disclosure:

Disposable Financial Tools with a central number (public key/Queen number) and a secondary number (Drone/exit number). When used in transaction, The Drone number is automatically altered or lock from the private network and or banking system after gaining access, process and approved, prevent a DFT with the same exit number from gaining access to the network and banking system again. Sleek Check (Midget Check) a none-deposit electronic check with the banking information hidden under magnetic strip and reveal when it is scanned or swipe. Payer signature is electronically stored on issuer electronic check image after transaction process and approved. IEICard Internet payment card that does not reveal end user account number in a web transaction, preventing identity theft. Gift card system that required only the account holder to write receptions name and amount on the cards.